“ As I stare at this page wondering what too write about my baby brother . I realize words can't sum up Waylon . I don't have too tell you all about Waylon, because any of you that are here know that he was one of a kind .

I was so conflicted wether too call him baby brother , or my best friend . and truth is they both fit . but still don't describe what he meant too me in this life . he was my pride and joy as well as our mothers . I loved showing him things teaching him what I knew and working beside him many days . he became one of the most talented , gifted guys I'd ever known . and I was always proud too call him my brother .

When Waylon. Had his first child Jessie Claire . a new light started shining in his eyes , it was the kind of light that only a child can bring into your life . the love of a parent. And man did he ever love that baby girl . I'd never met a father more devoted and loving as he was too her. His life finally had meaning . I wish I had a time machine and could go back and tell him how proud o was of him and how much I loved him . but he knew this already . when he found out he was expecti g a second child . he called me too tell me . I heard a excitement in his voice as he ran names by me . a enthusiastiam that fuels its own happiness . and Nathan Dewayne it was.

Waylon Hillard I can't turn back time and tell you how much you meant too everyone who knew you . but I think you knew what you meant too me . you were the one person I could honestly bare my soul too because we were that close . there will never be a day that I don't think of you . we spent so many days working together . laughing hysterically at one another . and making the best out of our work days together . I will miss seeing that shit eating grin and hearing you Crack jokes on me for getting old . veorher I wanna say that there is usually only one friend we have in life that's always there and never changes . well I'm honored that you were my lifelong best friend and I also got too call you brother . and maybe grasshopper occasionally haha until I see you again bro. You will always be with me in my heart
